

Wonder Writers: Working with Your Young Writer at Home

Writing Letters

Encourage your child to write a letter to a grandparent. Explore various ways of writing to the grandparent. Send emails, thank you cards, birthday cards, and friendly letters. Not only will the grandparent treasure these letters from your child, but it will help build a strong relationship between your child and their grandparent.

In addition to grandparents, your child can write to friends and other family members, or find a pen pal in another state or country.

Try writing the following kinds of letters:

- Birthday Invitations
- Thank You Notes
- Opinion Letters for the Newspaper
- Persuasive Letters to a politician
- Fan letters to a celebrity
- Get Well Cards

Have a variety of writing papers and tools at home.

- Fun stationary and cards
- Color pencils, markers, and a variety of pens
